

To expand our international development department in Munich, we are looking for an inquisitive full stack genius. Within the team you will further develop our software landscape according to our partners' needs.

We are growing – you too can grow with us as

Full Stack Developer (m/f/d)

at our company location in Munich

Your Mission.

- Execution and support of the whole software development cycle, including specification, design, implementation and automated testing
- Autonomous analysis and refinement of the technical requirements in collaboration with the SCRUM team
- Design of technical concepts based on requirements
- Implementation of frontend clients according to best UI/UX practices and corresponding tests
- Integration of new features with our backend systems
- Debugging our systems and helping the internal support team solve challenging customer issues (3rd level support)

Your Invest.

Must-haves

- 🐾 You have a distinct technical understanding and love solving problems
- 🐾 You have a hands-on mentality, look forward to daily challenges that characterize and constantly allow you to further develop and improve your skill set
- 🐾 You have professional experience with TypeScript and at least one of React, Angular, Vue.js or Flutter
- 🐾 You enjoy working in an agile team and you are resilient even in stressful situations
- 🐾 Your English skills allow you to easily communicate with our international team

Nice-to-haves

- 🐾 You have successfully completed a technical education or a technical degree
- 🐾 You have experience with cloud services (AWS)
- 🐾 You bring along knowledge of Spring Boot or another backend framework and PostgreSQL
- 🐾 You gained experience with Kotlin, Dart, Python or C
- 🐾 You have good German language skills

Your Benefits.

- A brilliant, innovative product with international growth that brings an entire industry into the 21st century
- Responsible tasks with a high degree of independence and development opportunities
- Chance to explore different fields of our tech stack from app development to embedded software
- A permanent contract for long-term cooperation, appreciation and a good life-balance
- Modern facilities with state-of-the-art IT equipment (Linux, MacOS or Windows)

About OilFox.

With 75 % market coverage we are the leading supplier of tank monitoring systems in Germany. Our common goal is to occupy the topic of digitalization in the field of fill level measurement in order to make our partner companies fit for the future by providing valuable data insights. You can find more information on our website: oilfox.io.

LIV-T GmbH
Ganghoferstraße 66 e
80339 München

You are convinced of our idea and want to take off together with us? We are looking forward to your application! Please send it to j.kroeger@liv-t.com. If you have any questions about the position, please contact our HR-Manager Julia (+49 171 9300487).